Description of parenting programmes in Hackney

'Parenting is an important part of loving and caring for your child. Good parenting is about providing a warm, secure home life, helping your child to learn the rules of life (e.g. how to share, respect others, etc.) and to develop good self-esteem.'

(Royal college of Psychiatrists March 2012)

Being a parent and raising children is one of the most important and rewarding jobs. At the same time it can be hard work and challenging. Babies and children change and develop at a rapid rate and parents need to adapt their approach to keep up. Parenting programmes are one type of support available to parents and carers, which provides them with the opportunity to develop their skills and strategies in parenting and raising their children.

Parenting programmes are mostly delivered to groups of parents and carers, who come together to work through a programme which has a track record of improving outcomes for families. The parenting programmes are delivered and facilitated by a trained worker who has experience of delivering the programme and supporting parents and carers to develop their parenting skills.

In City and Hackney we recognise that parents will require access to different levels of parenting programmes depending on their particular circumstances. Therefore we have provided an overview of the Parenting Programmes provided and indicated which circumstances each programme will best meet:

- Universal - Information, advice, support and guidance for all parents and carers and their families
- Universal Plus Partnership - Early identified, and increasing, needs are being experienced by parents and carers and their families
- Complex/High risk - Specialist and statutory support for parents and carers and their families where poor outcomes exist

“There is no more important job in any society than raising children, and there is no more important influence on how children develop than their parents.”

(Laurence Steinberg)

COACH

Programme Overview:

COACH is an evidence-based programme, designed and piloted by Hackney Children and Families Services, to meet the needs of children in the local area with or at high risk of behavioural difficulties. The COACH programme is made up of three components:

- A 7 session children's group intervention which focuses on identifying and understanding emotions, managing anger and social problem solving.
- A 5 session PSHE children's group which focuses on mindfulness, taking risks and being safe in the community.
- A series of parenting programmes which focus on behaviour management and empathic parenting strategies.

Eligibility criteria:

COACH is for children aged 7 - 11 years who meet several of the below:

- At risk of school exclusion;
- Not attending school regularly;
- Has low academic achievement;
- Presents with emotional, social or behavioural difficulties in school;
- There are concerns about peer group influence on the child;
- Sibling or other family members involvement in crime and/or anti-social behaviour;
- Family affected by economic or social hardship;
- Family are socially excluded/isolated.

Accessing the programme:

Referrals are accepted from professionals. If it is agreed that a family meet the eligibility criteria and would benefit from COACH, they will be contacted and informed of the start date for the next COACH cohort.

Compassion Focussed Therapy Group for Parents

Parenting Programme Overview:

The Compassion Focussed Therapy (CFT) Group for parents is a programme delivered over six weeks, and each session lasts an hour. Over the course of the group, parents will develop skills and techniques that will allow them to be more kind and compassionate towards themselves. The group acknowledges that many of the parents attending may have experienced significant trauma in their lives. Such experiences are commonly responded to with blame and self-criticism. Therefore the CFT group encourages parents to respond to these experiences differently with compassion. Each group session is delivered by two clinicians.

Eligibility criteria:

Parents of children who are open to Hackney Children's Social Care, who have been identified as having low self-esteem, high levels of blame and self-criticism, or those that do not feel confident in their parenting ability.

Contact information:

Hackney Children and Families Clinical Service

0208 356 3475

ClinicalTeam@hackney.gov.uk

Accessing the parenting programme:

Referrals are accepted from professionals working directly with parents and their children (e.g. social workers, family practitioners). Once a parent has been identified as meeting the criteria for the CFT group they will either be contacted by one of the group facilitators to discuss the group further, or will be invited in for a pre-group meeting.

Cygnets group

Parenting Programme Overview:

Cygnets is a parenting support programme, developed by the children's charity Barnardo's and run by trained facilitators at Hackney Ark. The group is for parents/carers of children over the age of 9 - 14 years old with a diagnosis of autism spectrum disorder (ASD). The group is 6 sessions long, with topics including autism & diagnosis, communication, sensory difficulties, behaviour, managing behaviour, siblings and puberty & sexuality. CAMHS Disability run the groups to cover transition to secondary school and puberty. They also offer the groups at the Specialist ASD school - The Garden School, and co-ordinate the provision from CAMHS Disability.

Eligibility criteria:

This group is for parents/carers of children over the age of 9 years old with a diagnosis of autism spectrum disorder (ASD), across spectrum.

Contact information:

Please contact the CAMHS Disability team at Hackney Ark

Incredible Years

Parenting Programme Overview:

Incredible Years seeks to alter the quality of relationships between parents and children and children with their peers. It is an early prevention programme designed to:

- Teach parents how to foster positive behaviours in their children and give parents some effective techniques for dealing with common behaviour
- Promote positive and nurturing parenting and to increase parental involvement in school.

This is a structured manual based parenting programme which covers play, praise and limit setting.

Incredible Years is usually delivered over 12 weekly sessions. Each two hour session is interactive and collaborative, using a multiple learning approach. This includes watching video clips, discussing experiences and concerns, sharing ideas, practicing skills and home tasks.

Eligibility criteria:

Mindfulness for Special Guardians

Parenting Programme Overview:

A Mindfulness Based Cognitive Therapy 8 session group programme for Special Guardians. The programme teaches a wide range of mindfulness practices and provides guidance and support for weaving the practices into busy family life. Mindfulness is a way of bringing focused attention to feelings, thoughts, and bodily sensations in the present moment. This intentional awareness increases participants' capacity to 'respond' to stressful situations rather than just to 'react'; and provides strategies for both carers and their young people to practice in moments of emotional 'dysregulation'.

The course is designed so that each mindfulness practice is followed by a psychologist led discussion which allows carers to develop ways in which they can apply the practices to the relationships with the children in their care.

Eligibility criteria:

Carers with Special Guardianship status who are eligible for funding by the Adoption Support Fund (ASF)

New Beginnings

Parenting Programme Overview:

The New Beginnings mother and baby group is a short term, evidence-based group intervention, developed by the Anna Freud Centre. The group aims to increase the mother's knowledge about infant development and enable her to consider her child's and her own thoughts and feelings within their relationship. The intervention helps to facilitate more positive interactions between mother and infant. Additionally, New Beginnings seeks to improve the mother's state of mind and help her feel she is a better mother, to decrease levels of social isolation and to increase the mother's ability to access and make use of available services and supports.

The intervention takes place over 12 consecutive weeks and is usually run in one of the local children's centres. Two groups are offered per year, usually starting in April and September. Each session begins with a stay and play, followed by the group itself, then a shared lunch.

Eligibility criteria:

The group can be accessed by families where the baby is open to Hackney Children and Families Service (Children's Social Care). Babies must be under 8 months old at the start of the group. Parents must be willing and able to attend group sessions for 12 weeks, and for facilitators to meet with them prior to the group starting and after it has finished.

Parents must have a sufficient level of English to be able to participate in a group based-intervention. Parents with mental health needs should have a sufficient level of stability to participate in a group setting where personal issues are discussed. We are not able to offer the group to parents where there are current severe issues with alcohol or substance use.

Contact information:

Accessing the parenting programme:

Referrals of a parent and unborn baby or a parent and baby to the group should be made via the baby's social worker within Hackney Children and Families Service (CFS)

Non Violent Resistance

Parenting Programme Overview:

Non-Violence Resistance is a parenting programme based on the approaches and principles used by Martin Luther King and Mahatma Gandhi.

The programme is delivered over 12 weeks, with each session lasting 2 hours. There are 12 themes covered in the programme, which aims to empower parents to de-escalate any form of physical and verbal violence from their child. The focus is on the parents noticing the behaviours displayed, that lead to violence so that they are enabled to understand the behaviour. This will include how they may have contributed to the escalation.

Each session is delivered by 3 clinicians and a graduate parent.

Fostering Changes and Nurturing Attachments

Programme Overview:

Fostering Changes and Nurturing Attachments is a 12-week group programme specifically designed for foster carers and Special Guardians who are looking after children with attachment difficulties, emotional and behavioural difficulties and/or who have experienced trauma and abuse. It provides an opportunity for carers to develop their understanding of their children's emotional needs, to develop skills in managing difficult behaviour, and to reflect on their experiences and receive support from others. The Hackney programme is based on combining different evidence-based approaches that have been developed by the National Specialist Fostering Service at Maudsley Hospital, by Coram BAAF and by Dr Kim Golding, a Clinical Psychologist who specialises in working with Looked After Children using an approach known as Dyadic Development Psychotherapy (DDP). By combining different models, the Hackney Fostering Changes and Nurturing Attachments group aims to support foster carers and Special Guardians with both positive behaviour management and techniques and/or approaches, and with developing therapeutic parenting skills. These can be used in day to day situations, and work together to give children experiences that help them develop better self-regulation, whilst promoting secure attachments.

Eligibility criteria:

This course is open to, and free for, any Hackney foster carer or Special Guardian. Places for foster carers employed by Independent Fostering Agencies are subject to a registration fee.

Teenage Years group

Parenting Programme Overview:

This group is for parents/carers of teenagers (aged 13-18) who are identified as having a moderate to profound learning disability. A key aim of the Teenage Years Group is to allow caregivers the opportunity to meet, share ideas and stories, consider challenges associated with adolescence and to learn from each other as parents, alongside expert evidence-based knowledge. The group explores the parent's experience of successes and how similar approaches may be helpful as their young person navigates their teenage years.

This is a 6 week programme that includes a coffee morning and 5 sessions at Hackney Ark. The sessions cover structured topics about growing up, puberty and sexuality in young people with learning disabilities. A therapeutic letter and a certificate are provided on completion of the parenting group.

Eligibility criteria:
