

Learning Spanish remotely

Parents

You will be aware that in learning a language, it is essential for children to hear, practise and read regularly. It is best for them to access material in Spanish a little bit every day rather than ask them to spend a long time studying for a couple of times a week.

This period away from school is a perfect opportunity for children to have some fun accessing the many websites of videos, games and fun activities. In the pressured time in school, there may not be the openings to explore some of the resources that are freely available.

Students

Try to do a little bit of Spanish every day. It is important to continue listening and practising while you are working from home. You may already know of some good websites that are freely available and fun to use.

Here are some suggested websites to get you started.

<https://www.linguacuisine.com> As its name suggests, you can follow videos and instructions on how to make Spanish dishes. Enjoy making the dishes. It is better as a mobile phone app.

<https://www.lyricsTraining.com> has some good songs with the text underneath where you have to fill in missing words. Good music. Again, it is better as an app

<https://www.Spanishmama.com/zumba-videos-in-Spanish> Get moving to these Zumba beats

<https://www.languagenut.com> they are offering a 30 day free trial, some good exercises

<https://www.radiolingua.com> The podcasts are free, the rest you have to pay for. The latest podcast is on the Carnaval de Santa Cruz de Tenerife. No videos of course.

<https://www.Schools.duolingo.com> You might be familiar with the app Duolingo which is free and for an individual. This one will enable you to compete against your friends.

Eleo.mecd.gob.es/opac/?locale=es#indice This will give you access to all the books in the library at the Spanish Education Dept

On YouTube there are very many songs and videos in Spanish.

There is a short Spanish course online for free:

Yabla.com is offering a 90 day trial during the present crisis but your Spanish teacher needs to sign up your school first and then give you a login.
